CURRENT SITUATION

Current Situation:	The very warm temperatures will continue today with temperatures in the mid 90's inland and in the valleys. Over the weekend, northeast to east-northeast winds will allow for warm and dry air to downslope towards the coast, with poor humidity recoveries overnight especially inland. This will continue to expose hot spots which will be closely monitored and patrolled by fire crews. High temperatures will remain near 90 degrees inland, and in the 70's along the coast as we move into next week. Due to the weather conditions, a previously known hot spot ignited yesterday along an unburned island east of Limekiln State Park. The fire ran upslope but burned into blackened areas previously burned during this incident. Fire was monitored by fire crews, and helicopter operations were in progress through the afternoon to protect the drainage areas and extinguish remaining fire. PG&E has implemented a Public Safety Power Shutoff warning. The power shutoffs are intentional disruptions in service to protect areas suffering from extreme weather such as high temperatures and high winds. This decreases the chance a malfunctioning or overheated power line has of starting a fire. For more information visit the PG&E website at https://pgealerts.alerts.pge.com/updates/
