

Lonesome Complex Fire MINI-UPDATE

September 24, 2008

Prospect area citizens banded together Tuesday evening to honor and thank wildland firefighters for their efforts. The Material Girls of Shady Cove, the Lady Lions of Prospect, and the Home Extension of Prospect delivered nearly one hundred pounds of homemade cookies to the Lonesome Fire Incident Command Post at Joseph Stewart State Park Tuesday evening. Firefighters flocked to the cookie table after their duty shift. "This is our last night here, and it's like a celebration," said one firefighter.

This wonderful gesture was a "thank-you" from the surrounding communities for the firefighting effort in fighting the Middle Fork Fire. The firefighters all expressed their thanks to the community for their kindness.

Kathy Rodriguez represented all the ladies that baked the cookies by delivering them and serving them to the firefighters.

Rob Batten, Incident Commander for the Blue Mountain Interagency Incident Management Team expressed his thanks to the community for thinking of the firefighters.
