

Smoke Outlook for 7/27 - 7/28
SE Washington - Lick Creek Fire/Green Ridge Fire
 Issued at: 2021-07-27 08:04 PDT

Fire

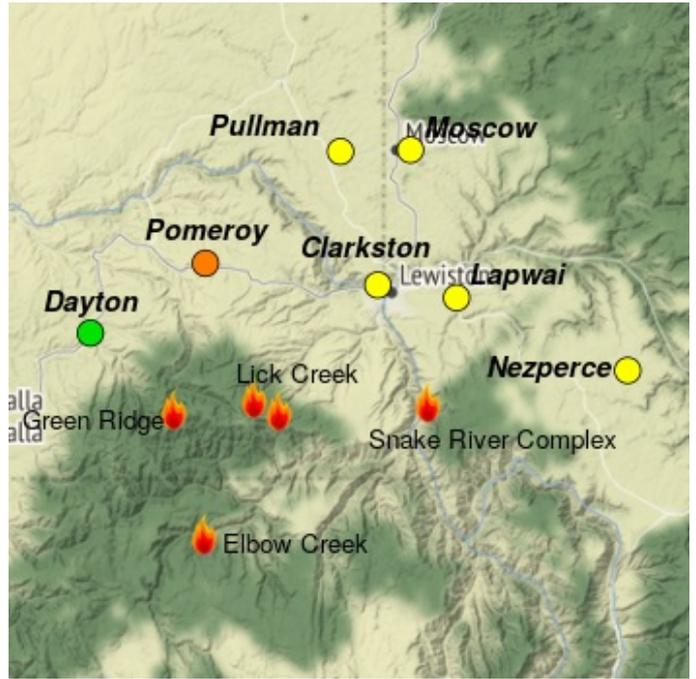

The Lick Creek fire remains at 80,392 acres with 90% containment. There is still some activity along the southwestern edges. The Green Ridge Fire is 6,799 acres with 15% containment. Most of the activity is in the northern, eastern and southern edges, with the majority of the growth to the north.

Smoke

Winds out of the west and northwest should help push out the smoke that lingered overnight. Good to Moderate conditions expected throughout the forecast area, with the exception of Pomeroy, which may be in the Unhealthy for Sensitive Groups overall. Please note that there are multiple fires in the region that are also contributing to smoke impacts in the area.
